

Description

Seeing heavy use in the Korean War during 1950-1954 by jet fighter and bomber pilots, the B-15 Nylon bomber jacket became one of the top choices of outerwear by pilots for its warmth and material reduction for ease of movement in cramped cockpits. Cockpit USA's Nylon B-15 stays true in style and adornments including zip sleeve pen pockets, faux fur collar, leather oxygen tabs and slash pockets for an authentic replication.
