

Description

Originally adapted by the U.S. Air Force in the 1950s, this iconic nylon jacket has been worn by various armed forces. In the 1980s the MA-1 was used by U.S. Army helicopter crews and is known as the "Nylon Pilot's Jacket". Boasting a bright orange reversible lining for survival purposes, pilots would turn the jacket inside out to make them visible to rescue crews. This rugged jacket used by military and paramilitary organizations is a timeless style.

- 100% nylon flight satin twill
- Reversible bright orange lining for survival purposes
- Snap close side entry pockets
- Sleeve pen/pencil pocket
- Two interior snap pockets
- Knit cuffs, collar, and waistband
- This is a regular fit jacket
- Dry clean only
- Proudly made in the USA

THE SUPPLY ROOM
230 Supply Room Rd, Oxford, AL 36203